Building Progress

1.

Purely behavioural:

Lacked strong grounding in needs, wants & attitude

2.

Narrow field of vision:

Focused purely on behaviour with Very, what about their behaviour with competitors?

3.

Customer centric:

What about non-customers and acquisition?

Two part Enterprise Segmentation Validation Process...

1.

Top-Down approach:

Are we using the right variables to begin with or are there others we should be using as our starting point?

2.

Bottom-Up approach:

Are the individual segments intuitive and do they provide sufficient differentiation to warrant separate treatment?

Convenience

The image shows a close-up of a hand placing a white puzzle piece into a larger assembly. The assembly consists of several interlocking gears of different colors (blue, green, red, yellow) and a background of white puzzle pieces. Two text boxes are overlaid on the image: one orange box on the left and one green box on the right.
